To Whom it may concern,

Claire Wohlfeil has been my cello student for almost five years. She will perform the Kol Nidre by Max Bruch at Kerrytown Concert House, on June 8, 2013. The piece is in the advanced cello repertoire and she plays it well. Claire has become a solid musician in this last year. She is extremely sensitive, very intelligent, and conscientious. Unlike some students, she is particular about playing in tune and understands both nuance and deep feeling in music making. She cares about others and is very mindful in all of her activities. I feel strongly that she will do well in whatever she chooses to do in life. I recommend her most highly.
